The Company shall provide the level of protection required for the processing of the data, in particular their storage, rectification and erasure, in the event of a request for information or an objection by the Data Subject.

7. Storage of personal data, data processing

This third party (hereinafter referred to as "Data Processor") shall carry out the processing in accordance with the instructions of the Company and in compliance with the provisions of the applicable legislation. For the purposes of processing, personal data are only transferred to individual Processors for the purposes necessary for the fulfilment of that purpose.

9. Handling data protection incidents

The Company makes every effort to avoid data protection incidents. A data protection incident is a breach of security that results in the accidental or unlawful destruction, loss, alteration, unauthorized disclosure of, or access to, personal data transmitted, stored or otherwise processed.

The Data Controller shall immediately notify the National Authority for Data Protection and Freedom of Information of the data protection incident, unless the data protection incident is unlikely to pose a risk to the rights and freedoms of the Data Subjects. The Data Controller shall keep a record of the data protection incidents, together with the actions taken in relation to the incidents. Where the incident is serious (i.e. likely to result in a high risk to the rights and freedoms of the Data Subject), the Data Controller shall inform the Data Subject of the personal data protection incident without undue delay.

10. Rights of the Data Subject in relation to data processing

The Company draws the attention of the Data Subjects to the fact that in the event of a complaint or comment, it is advisable to contact the Company as the Data Controller at one of the contact details indicated in this Policy.

Rights of the Data Subject:

a) Right to information/ right of access

The Data Subject has the right to receive feedback from the Company on whether or not his or her personal data are being processed and, if such processing is ongoing, the right to be informed of the personal data processed, the purposes of the processing, the categories of data, the recipients, the storage period, the rights and the source of the data.

The Company shall provide the Data Subject with a copy of the personal data subject to processing. For additional copies requested by the Data Subject, the Company may charge a reasonable fee based on administrative costs.

b) Correction and deletion

The Data Subject is entitled to have inaccurate personal data relating to him or her corrected by the Company without undue delay upon his or her request. Taking into account the purpose of the processing, the Data Subject has the right to request the completion of incomplete personal data, including by means of a supplementary declaration.

c) Delete/erasure

The Data Subject shall have the right to obtain from the Company, upon his/her request, the erasure of personal data relating to him/her without undue delay if the purpose of the processing has ceased, the Data Subject has withdrawn his/her consent to the processing and there is no other legal basis for the processing, if the personal data have been unlawfully processed.

d) Restrictions on the processing of data

The Data Subject is entitled to have the Company restrict processing at his or her request if one of the following conditions is met:

- the Data Subject contests the accuracy of the personal data, in which case the restriction applies for the period of time necessary to allow the Controller to verify the accuracy of the personal data;
- the processing is unlawful and the Data Subject opposes the erasure of the data and requests instead the restriction of their use;
- the Company no longer needs the personal data for the purposes of processing, but the Data Subject requires them for the establishment, exercise or defence of legal claims; or the Data Subject has objected to the processing; in which case the restriction applies for the period until it is determined whether the Company's legitimate grounds prevail over the Data Subject's legitimate grounds.

Where processing is restricted on the basis of the above, such personal data, with the exception of storage, may only be processed with the consent of the Data Subject or for the establishment, exercise or defence of legal claims or for the protection of the rights of another natural or legal person or for important public interests of the Union or of a Member State.

The Company will inform any recipient of the rectification, erasure, blocking or restriction of processing to whom or with which it has disclosed the personal data, unless this proves impossible or involves a disproportionate effort.

e) The right to data portability

The Data Subject has the right to receive personal data concerning him or her which he or she has provided to the Company in a structured, widely used, machine-readable format and the right to transmit such data to another controller without hindrance by the Company, if the processing is based on consent and the processing is automated. In exercising the right to data portability, the Data Subject has the right to request, where technically feasible, the direct transfer of personal data between controllers. The exercise of this right must not prejudice the right to erasure. That right shall not apply where the processing is necessary for the performance of a task carried out in the public interest or in the exercise of official authority vested in the controller. The exercise of the right must not adversely affect the rights and freedoms of others.

f) Protest

The Data Subject has the right to object at any time, on grounds relating to his or her particular situation, to the processing of his or her personal data based on Article 6(1)(e) or (f) of the GDPR, including profiling based on those provisions. In such a case, the Company may no longer process the personal data unless it can demonstrate compelling legitimate grounds for the processing which override the interests, rights and freedoms of the Data Subject or for the establishment, exercise or defence of legal claims.

The Data Subject has the right not to be subject to a decision based solely on automated processing, including profiling, which would have legal effects concerning him or her or similarly significantly affect him or her.

The exception to the above is if the decision:

- is necessary for the conclusion or performance of a contract between the Data Subject and the Company; - is permitted under Union or Member State law applicable to the Company which also lays down appropriate measures to protect the Data Subject's rights and freedoms and legitimate interests; or

- is based on the Data Subject's explicit consent.

11. Procedure in case of a request by the Data Subject:

The Data Subject may contact a representative of the Company at any of the contact details indicated in this Policy with any of the above requests or other questions or requests concerning his or her personal data.

The Company must consider the request within 30 days of receipt of the written request. If necessary, taking into account the complexity of the application or the number of pending applications, the Company may extend the time limit for processing the application. The Data Subject must be informed in advance of the fact of the extension or the reasons for it.

If the Data Subject's request is justified, the Company shall implement the requested measure within the procedural time limit and shall inform the Data Subject in writing of the implementation. If the Company rejects the Data Subject's request, it shall issue a written decision to that effect. In its decision, the Company shall state the facts on which the decision is based, the reasons for the decision, with reference to the relevant legislation and case law, and shall inform the Data Subject of the legal remedies available against the decision of the Company.

If the Data Subject does not agree with the Company's decision or if the Company fails to comply with the relevant procedural time limit, the Data Subject may refer the matter to the supervisory authority or to a court.
