DSS CONSULTING

IT Contract Staffing

Fast and flexible support for your IT project

The Challenge

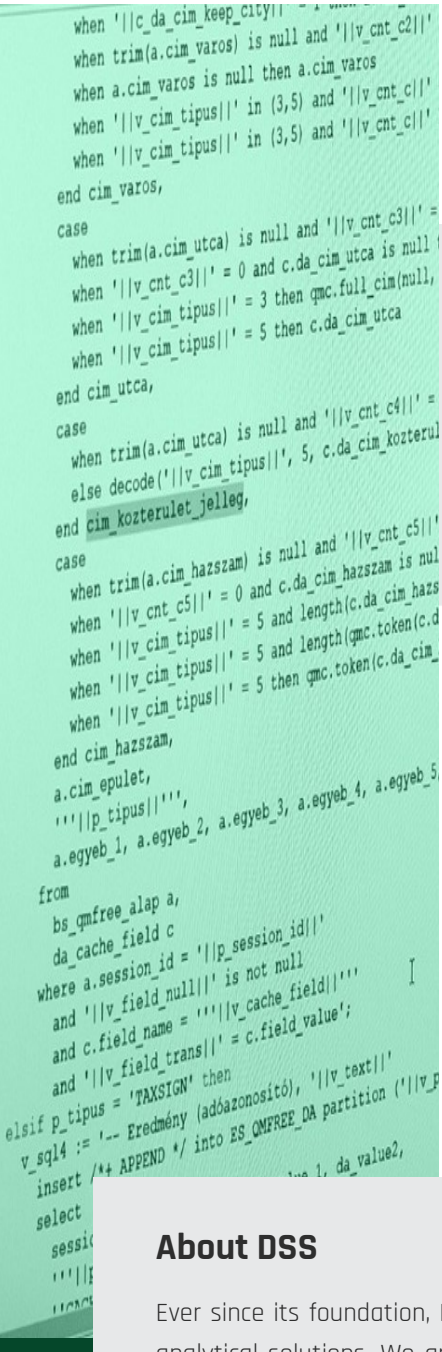
There is a growing demand for experienced IT professionals and, especially in certain niches, it is becoming increasingly difficult to find the right specialist. In addition, reducing costs can be an important consideration for several companies.

The Solution

We don't just provide our clients with IT professionals—we are expert partners in finding solutions to the business problems our clients are facing. This includes helping our customers define the task or project and the most appropriate roles (external and internal) for the job, if required.

- Speed: We quickly identify and select the most suitable experts
- Flexibility: We provide individual specialists or even a whole team according to the client's needs
- Predictable costs: We can provide experts on demand, part-time or full-time,
- Ongoing support: we closely monitor the work of our people to quickly identify any difficulties

IT Contract Staffing—The DSS Way



- Consultation: We assess the business issue to be solved and the expectations (hard and soft skills) related to the required experts; we also help clarify expectations and the project involved
- Search: With the help of our own team of more than 100 people or our partner network, we will find the ideal specialist for the task as soon as possible
- Selection: We propose the most suitable expert for the task; to ensure speed, we conduct a professional and HR interview at the same time, and then evaluate them together after the client interview
- Project launch: After the positive decision of the client, we secure the selected specialist for the required period of time; we provide full information to coordinate the expert and the client as soon as possible and help the outsourced employees (with multiple feedback during the probation period, continuous communication, etc.)
- Team assembly: If required, we assemble a complete team for the given task (based on competencies, seniority, professional knowledge, fit), even for complete projects
- Support and cooperation: We monitor and support the work of experts, replace them if necessary; in addition, we provide (as required) other (technological, methodological, etc.) support in the project based on our many years of development and product development experience
- Training: In the case of long-term cooperation, we also develop the employee's training plan together with the client
